Tyrannicide.

Milton, John, 1608-1674.

The tenure of kings and magistrates: proving, that it is lawfull, and hath been held so through all ages, for any, who have the power, to call to account a tyrant, or wicked king, and after due conviction, to depose, and put him to death; if the ordinary magistrate have neglected, or deny'd to doe it. And that they, who of late so much blame deposing, are the men that did it themselves. The author, J. M.

1. The first step in the process of developing a program is to determine the needs of the community. This is done through a process of consultation with community leaders and residents. The second step is to develop a plan of action. This plan should outline the goals of the program, the methods to be used, and the resources required. The third step is to implement the plan. This involves the recruitment of staff, the acquisition of resources, and the execution of the program. The fourth step is to evaluate the program. This is done through a process of monitoring and evaluation. The final step is to report on the results of the program. This report should provide information on the progress of the program, the achievements, and the challenges faced.

From David, 1895-1897
The history of the mission is a story of the growth and development of the church and its people. It is a story of the struggles and triumphs of the early years, and of the progress made in the last few decades. The mission has been a source of inspiration and strength to the people of the region, and its work is still going on. (This work is done on the special laborer's fund.)
